CHEYENNE KID

PAWNEE PRINCESS

THE PAWNEES AND THE SIOUX, HEREDITARY ENEMIES FOR CENTURIES, NURSED AN UNEASY PEACE BETWEEN THEIR TRIBES BUT THE ANCIENT HATRED STILL BURNED, AND WISE BEAR, THE CHIEF OF THE PAWNEES, KNEW IT WOULD TAKE ONLY A LITTLE TO FAN THAT HATRED INTO WAR! THE CHEYENNE KID, RIDING SCOUT FOR THE ARMY, WAS AWARE OF THE DANGER AS HE RODE THROUGH THE PAWNEE-SIOUX TERRITORY... AND IT WAS HIS JOB TO DO EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO AVERT THAT WAR! WHAT HE HAD TO DO WAS A LOT ROUGHER THAN ANY INDIAN CAMPAIGNING HE'D EVER DONE BEFORE! HE LEARNED THAT AN INDIAN SQUAW PACKED A MIGHTY MEAN WALLOP WHEN YOU GOT HER MAD ENOUGH!

HEY, LEGGO!
YOU'RE...

I DO NOT WANT A
CHEYENNE HUSBAND!

TRUBLE BEGAN WHEN THE CHEYENNE KID FOUND TWO SIOUX BRAVES AND A PAWNEE IN A HASSLE...

CHEYENNE, TRAITOR TO SIOUX!

CHEYENNE KID

THE PAWNEE WARRIOR ON THE GROUND COULDN'T HELP! HE'D BEEN WOUNDED JUST BEFORE THE CHEYENNE KID ARRIVED, SO THE SCOUT WAS ON HIS OWN!

CHEYENNE QUICKLY DISPOSED OF THE SECOND SIOUX!

A QUICK CHECK SHOWED THE PAWNEE WARRIOR TO BE STILL ALIVE...SO CHEYENNE QUICKLY DISARMED THE SIOUX AND GOT THEM ON THEIR FEET!

CHEYENNE, YOU ARE BLOOD-BROTHER OF SIOUX! YOU ARE TRAITOR!

I'M AN ARMY SCOUT RIGHT NOW, TRYIN' TO KEEP PEACE AROUND HERE! YOU GENTS START WALKIN'! I'LL GIVE YOUR HORSES TO THE PAWNEES AS A SIGN OF GOOD WILL! GO ON, MOVE!

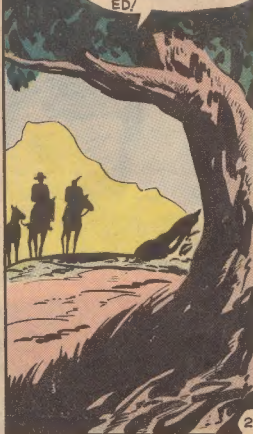

RECKON YOU CAN MAKE IT TO VORE VILLAGE, BROTHER? I'LL COME ALONG!

I CAN RIDE, CHEYENNE! THE CHIEF, WISE BEAR, WILL BE GLAD TO SEE YOU!

WHY DID THE SIOUX BRAVES ATTACK, BROTHER?

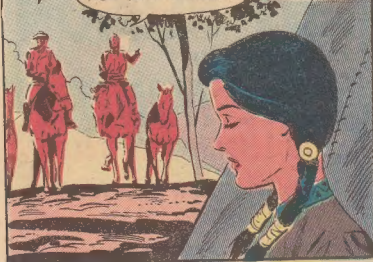

RED ELK, WAR CHIEF OF THE SIOUX, SENT THEM AS SCOUTS TO SPY ON OUR VILLAGE! I SURPRISED THEM AND THEY ATTACKED!

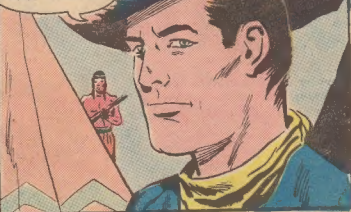

CHARLTON COMICS GIVE YOU MORE!

THE SIOUX ARE AT PEACE, BROTHER!

SEE THE MAIDEN, CHEYENNE COUSIN? SHE IS WISE BEAR'S ONLY GIRL CHILD! RED ELK HAS LOOKED AT HER AND FAVORS HER! HE WANTS HER FOR HIS TEPEE!

WHY? JUST BECAUSE THE PAWNEE AND SIOUX HAVE FOUGHT FOR CENTURIES, YOU CHOWDERHEADS WANT TO KEEP FIGHTING FOR ANOTHER HUNDRED YEARS? HAS ANYONE ASKED THE GIRL WHAT SHE WANTS?

YOU ARE BRAVE WARRIOR, CHEYENNE, BUT EVEN YOU SHOULD FEAR TO INTERFERE IN THIS MATTER! SABEHA, MY DAUGHTER, SHALL NEVER COOK FOR A SIOUX WARRIOR!

SHE'S LOVELY... I CAN UNDERSTAND WHY RED ELK WOULD RISK A WAR OVER HER!

YOUR PIPE, FATHER!

THE CHIEF, WISE BEAR, AND CHEYENNE TALKED LONG... AND THE GIRL WAITED, SILENT, OBEDIENT, AS A GOOD DAUGHTER SHOULD BE!

...AND I HAVE SENT WORD TO RED ELK NOT TO ENTER THIS VILLAGE!

IF YOUR DAUGHTER WERE UGLY, WISE BEAR, YOUR PROBLEM WOULD BE EASILY SOLVED! OR...

...IF SHE DIDN'T HAVE THE LOOK OF A GIRL IN LOVE YOU MIGHT NOT HAVE TROUBLE! BUT I THINK SABEHA IS ALREADY IN LOVE WITH RED ELK!

A New Hobby Gives You A Brand New Interest!

Yes, anyone from 5 to 80 can draw or sketch or paint anything now... the very first time you use the "Magic Art Reproducer" like a professional artist—no matter how "hopeless" you think you are! An unlimited variety and amount of drawings can be made. Art is admired and respected by everyone. Most hobbies are expensive, but drawing costs very little, just some inexpensive paper, pencils, crayons, or paint. No costly upkeep, nothing to wear out, no parts to replace. It automatically reproduces anything you want to draw on any sheet of paper. Then easily and quickly follow the lines of the "picture image" with your pencil... and you have an accurate original drawing that anyone would think an artist had done. No guesswork, no judging sizes and shapes! Reproduces black and white and actual colors for paintings.

Also makes drawing larger or smaller as you wish.

Anyone can use it on any desk, table, board, etc.—indoors or outdoors! Light and compact to be taken wherever you wish. No other lessons or practice or talent needed! You'll be proud to frame your original drawings for a more distinctive touch to your home. Give them to friends as gifts that are "different," appreciated.

Have fun! Be popular! Everyone will ask you to draw them. You'll be in demand! After a short time, you may find you can draw well without the "Magic Art Reproducer" because you have developed a "knack" and feeling artists have—which may lead to a good paying art career.

SABEHA'S OUTBURST CONVINCED THE CHEYENNE KID THAT WHAT HE HAD GUESSED WAS TRUE! HE KNEW RED ELK... HE KNEW THE SIOUX WAR CHIEF WOULD NOT BEGIN A WAR FOR A MAIDEN HE WAS NOT SURE WOULD RETURN HIS LOVE!

IF IT WEREN'T FOR THE SIOUX-PANNEE ENMITY, THERE'D BE NO OBSTACLE TO A MARRIAGE BETWEEN RED ELK AND THE GIRL! I SURE HOPE I CAN FIGURE OUT AN ANSWER TO THIS ONE!

THE CHEYENNE KID, SLEEPLESS, WAS UP LONG BEFORE DAWN... SCOUTING THE SURROUNDING HILLS FOR SIGN OF THE SIOUX!

IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE CUSTOMS OF OUR TRIBES, WISE BEAR, I HAVE BROUGHT THIS FINE HERD AS A GIFT TO COMPENSATE FOR THE DAUGHTER I WISH TO TAKE TO MY TEEPEE!

SABEHA IS ALREADY PROMISED, RED ELK! MATTER OF FACT, THAT'S WHY I'M HERE!

CHEYENNE KID

PESTS ON THE PLAINS

We went to the Frontier Village to hear the Old Timer give another talk about the days when the West was young. I had longer since given up any attempt to figure out his age. Dave Willins of the Times-Tribune had a simple solution to this problem of age: "I figure he must have lived forever."

They set up the microphone so that the feeble voice of the Old Timer would carry to all parts of the barn. I no longer took any notes in shorthand. They made a connection to my tape recorder so that what you read is what was on the tape:

"One of the great pests of the cattle range was the wolves. Annually they inflicted a great loss upon the young stock and so the whole ranch force waged war against the wolves. Especially the great gray wolf known as the timber wolf, buffalo wolf, "loper", "loafer", or "lobo" wolf. An animal quite large enough to pull down a yearling or a heifer with the help of not more than one or two of its kind. The ravages of these wolves increased very much after the buffalo had disappeared and left them no prey but the domestic cattle.

Regular campaigns were made against these wolves by a class of men called "wolfers". They made an occupation of hunting, trapping, and poisoning them because a bounty was offered nearly all the states of the cattle range. However it was not possible for the most energetic wolfing operations to clear the range of these pests. For they would drift in again from great distances. So the cowboy throughout the year had more or less opportunity of seeing wolves.

The mountain lion was another animal in disrepute upon the cattle range because of its fondness for young calves or colts. But the range and the numbers of these animals was always so restricted that they cut less figure than the wolf in the annual estimate of losses in ranch work. It was not unusual upon the southern range to see one of these great red cats stealing off across the plain in an attempt to get away unnoticed.

The cowboy knew perfectly well that a more arrant coward never lived than this big, hulking cat. And for it he had a contempt. No matter whether alone or in company, as soon as the cowboy saw this "lion" he made after him at full speed. The cat ran away with incredible great leaping. Showing a good turn of speed for a time. However the horse the cowboy ran was fast. And soon a hissing rope clinched the mountain lion.

The cow range did not often or not long offer any great amount of fur bearing animal. The wolf, the coyote, the foxes and swifts, the antelope and deer, were the animals most frequently seen by the cowboy on his rounds. In the early days the ranch might be on a bit of good fur country. But if the cowboy found a beaver stream he was more apt to tell some trapper. Rather than to trouble his own head about a beaver harvest.

At times on the cold northern range the cowboy thought about a fur cap for the winter days. And if an otter came in on some stream the cowboy might undertake to get his hide. It takes a good trapper to get an otter and the cowboy was not always a good trapper. Once after some smaller fur bearing animal. And he was always ready to join any hunting party made up at the ranch for a day or a night to in a while the cowboy might go out for a look go after wildcats, "leopard cats," lions or other sort of game which his country might happen to produce.

In some parts of the country the cowboy carried a rifle in the holster under his leg. But this sometimes was as much for the cow thief or rustler as for any game. The favorite arm of the cowboy was the six-shooter. And with this weapon he rarely hesitated to attack any animal that came his way. Very often cowboys killed mountain lions with their revolvers. Sometimes shooting them out of trees where they had taken refuge. In a few instances the cowboy had ridden alongside and with his six-shooter killed the grizzly, cinnamon or "range bear."

Constantly inured to the dangers of the open range and familiar with the sight of large game there was no animal for which he had much fear. Really there were some small ones that he feared much more than any of the large ones. The bite of the small plains polecat he dreaded above all things. For he knew that is was practically certain to result in hydrophobia and death. Many cowboys lost their lives in this way. Being bitten by this animal when it had crawled into their blankets at night. At the least move of the sleeper the venomous creature would bite. And its bite was accounted almost fatal. One United States army regiment stationed at an Arizona post lost thirteen men in one season through bites of the polecat.

The rattlesnake sometimes crawled into the cowboy's blankets night. But this was a less dangerous affair as the snake was apt to be chilled and stupid. Another creature much dreaded on the range was the centipede which was also a night traveller. It is a tradition of the range that if a centipede crawls across a man's flesh the poison left by its hooked and penetrating feet will surely produce insanity. Of course I will say right here and now I never really saw such a case. But over the camp fire we would talk about it. The tarantula was still more poisonous than the centipede but seems to have been less dreaded.

I know you folks want me to tell you some stories connected with these pests of the plains. When I worked on a ranch in the Southwest years ago we had on the round up with up a fellow we just called Simmy. No last name and I don't how he got that name Simmy. But that is what we called him. Simmy was afraid of snakes. When he was only ten years old he was bitten on the arm by a snake and he had the scar to prove it.

It was way after midnight and we were all asleep in our blankets. You sleep dead after a hard day's work and the round up is something that can really tire you. We heard a scream. I went for my six-gun and so did the others. All except Simmy because he was almost frozen with fear. He pointed to something on the ground. It was the longest snake I had seen. I was going to put a shot right through the head when something struck me. That snake wasn't moving. I got a little closer. Shucks, it wasn't a snake at all. Just a length of rope.

Maybe somebody did put it there as a kind of a joke. And then again maybe it just happened to be there. Jefferson Waines was our boss man. He could see like the rest of us that Simmy had been scared right down into his insides. In the mornig he sent Simmy out to look for a stray. Then he got us all together.

"Jokes are jokes," he warned. "Maybe this was one. But I don't want it to happen again. I'll fire the man right here if I catch him."

I liked Simmy so I spoke to him and told him not to worry. It wouldn't happen again. Simmy was no fool.

"I saw something moving. If a snake doesn't get you then it is a warning something terrible is going to happen. That's what my father taught me. And he was always right."

That night we went to bed. Simmy laid down like the rest of us. Then got up and made up a dummy like himself under his blanket. He hid with his six gun behind the brush. Then we heard his six-shooter go into action. We were up on our feet. And no snake this time. Simmy got four Indians that were crawling on the ground. With knives in their hands ready to cut our throats. We got the rest of them and learned later they were renegades who had left the reservation. They wanted our guns and our horse.

There wasn't much you can say to a man who is scared one night. Scared almost to death. And then the next night he saves all of your lives. Later we all chipped in and bought him as a present the finest saddle that Geoghan Brothers could make. Another thing and that is what Simmy's father told him. Maybe he was right in our case.

The other story concerns a big bear that was shot by one of our men. He was mighty proud of it. Two days later when we get up from the bunk house and go outside what do we see? Two little cubs waiting.

"You made them orphans so you ought to take care of them," says one of the cowboys to Lou who had felt so high and mighty over what he had shot. Those two little bears looked so helpless. We knew they would die unless somebody took care of them. We finally got Lou to see our point. He feed them and they were just like puppies. When they got old enough he took them out to the hill country and released them. Then he came back to the ranch with a warning to all of us.

"No bear hunting in this part of the country for any of you. And that includes myself. Taking a shot at them would be like shooting at me." Funny, how a man can change. Today they tell me the only pests on the plains are the dudes, who go to the ranches where they want to think it was yesterday. You can't bring back those days anymore."

The Old Timer finished and we had a promise from him to tell us more next month.
